

Stem Cell Skin Treatment via Microchanneling

Stem Cell Micro-Channeling therapy is the next generation of microneedling.

DECREASED STEM CELL SIGNALING LEADS TO AGING SKIN

Protein signals generated by stem cells are important as they actively repair and regenerate the skin.

As we age, the number of working stem cell falls, and the quantity of rejuvenating proteins they secrete is decreased.

SIGNS OF AGING

Did you know that we lose almost all of our skin's regenerating stem cells by the age of 50?

Stem Cell MicroFacial is designed to increase cellular communication within the skin, enhancing and optimizing the skin's ability to repair and rejuvenate itself via micro channeling delivery, minimizing fine lines and wrinkles, improving overall skin texture, minimizing pore size, and boosting collagen and elastin in aging skin.

At Skin & Body Alchemy we only use the most advanced system of growth factors and high-quality professional medical grade solutions composed of growth factors and cytokines associated with anti-inflammation, antimicrobial protection, and angiogenesis. When these stem cell growth factors and cytokines are introduced to the skin via micro channeling delivery, it initiates a response for soft tissue rejuvenation, resulting in visibly younger looking skin with little to no downtime.

In combination with our daily Skin Care System, we provide the skin with all the tools needed to achieve unparalleled results.

Complimentary aftercare at-home system (trial size) provided to enhance the results.

Microchanneling vs Microneedling

Unlike microneedling, microchanneling offers a less abrasive experience and is minimally invasive and described as painless for most. Microchanneling therapy uses a “stamping” technique, which creates micro vertical channels at a 90°, while a microneedling roller pierces the skin at an angle that is dragged over the skin, which can actually tear the skin.

It is ideal to pierce the skin straight on to ensure the effectiveness of the stem cell solution delivered into the skin during a clinical needling session.

MICRONEEDLING DERMAROLLER FLAWS:

- Excessive & undesired trauma
- Cross-infection risks
- Too large for small areas
- Lacks accuracy & consistency for speed & depth

MICRO-CHANNELING ADVANTAGE:

- Up and down movements prevent excessive trauma
- Disposable pinhead - No risk of Cross Infection
- The small tip helps treat hard to reach areas
- Very accurate & consistent speed & depth

Boost Your Skin's Natural Healing System

Your skin works hard to protect you every day. Stem cells within your skin contain hundreds of different growth factors & cytokines used to manage the healing process or nearly flawless regeneration. These are the most intelligent anti-inflammatory agents in your body.

With young skin, our naturally occurring stem cells are robust and responsive, keeping skin smooth, elastic, and radiant. As we age, we lose most of these Stem Cells resulting in chronic inflammation, redness, spots, wrinkles, and other signs of aging. Over time this damage adds up and our skin health deteriorates. We have fewer of these cells available to repair skin damage.

Growth factors are now established by peer-reviewed research as the highest level of optimization in anti-aging skincare. The scientists behind our Anti-Aging Medical Grade solution have harnessed the healing power of stem cells to regain your skin's ability to behave youthfully, and heal beautifully.

Our Special Anti-Aging Stem Cells products contain the highest concentration of cytokines, responsible for skin healing and are highly superior to all other cell types available to culture for rejuvenation and regeneration.

Each targeted solution (Anti-Aging, Brightening) is enhanced with additional proteins bio signals to address these specific outcomes.

This innovative, natural approach to skin rejuvenation allows us to achieve immediate as well as long-lasting results that include:

- Significantly higher hydration levels
- Smoothing of fine lines and wrinkles

- Reducing redness and inflammation
- Refining pores, breakouts and acne scarring
- Reducing excess pigmentation
- Increasing microcirculation

With no down-time or adverse reaction, skin health is restored.

Stem Cell Micro-channeling therapy is the next generation of Microneedling ...

Microchanneling therapy uses a “stamping” technique, which creates micro vertical channels in the skin. When these stem cell growth factors and cytokines are introduced to the skin via micro channeling delivery, it initiates a response for soft tissue rejuvenation, resulting in visibly younger looking skin with little to no downtime.

Micro-channeling should be performed only on healthy, unbroken skin. This means that clients with current acne breakouts, open wounds or cold sores, or eczema should wait for their skin to heal fully prior to the procedure to begin their skin transformation journey.

Stem Cell Homecare System:

This Special Stem Cell home care system is a complete, well-rounded, and comprehensive portfolio of ingredients that the skin requires and can utilize to maintain its ability to repair, protect and defend the skin from everything that ages us. It is a simple to use, two-step system that contains both water soluble actives and lipid soluble actives. Simplicity is what drives compliance, and compliance is what leads to beautiful, amazing, healthy results in skincare.

Product is suitable for ALL SKIN TYPES

Application Instructions:

Apply 1-2 pumps of Anti-Aging® twice daily. Follow with your favorite SPF each morning.

Step 1 - Regenerating

Restore your skin's ability to heal itself with regenerating serum. This elegant formula quickly absorbs into your skin, and contains physiologically balanced Stem Cytokines™, fortified with two recombinant Growth Factors. The addition of classical actives such as peptides and antioxidants yield a robust and rational skincare system. Utilizing nanotechnology, this symphony of ingredients act in concert to deliver powerful results at the cellular level.

- Initiates a pro-healing and anti-inflammatory response
- Reduces the appearance of fine lines and wrinkles

Microchannel Stamp is equipped with 140 medical-grade titanium cones to exfoliate, stimulate, and activate both elastin and collagen production, creating an overall healthy, even skin tone. The microchannel stamper has a flat head, which lays flat on the skin when it breaks the upper layers of your skin to encourage tissue formation, collagen production, and increase blood supply.

Use this extremely safe and effective tool to maximize results when treating skin blemishes, stretch marks, acne scars, and wrinkles. The skin benefits are even further enhanced when pairing the tool with professionally recommended products, especially the ones containing high doses of active ingredients that are designed specially to treat blemishes, scarring, pigmentation, and acne-prone skin.

In addition to boosting collagen production, when pairing the Microchannel Stamper with recommended products, studies have shown that the micro-channels created in the epidermis increase the absorption of active ingredients 1000-fold. Therefore, faster, and better results can be obtained by correctly pairing the Stamp with a professionally recommended product rather than by using products or the stamp as a standalone treatment. You will see dramatic changes in color, texture, and tone of the skin with the properly paired topical treatments.
